LAKE VILLA BOY IS VICTIM OF BULLET FROM OWN WEAPON

Wm. McGlashan Dies at Hospital as Result of Wound.

Wm. McGlashan, 16 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. William McGlashan, Sr., of Lake Villa died at the Victory Memorial hospital, Waukegan, Saturday as the result of a bullet wound in the abdomen.

The manner in which the gun was discharged remains a mystery as the boy was alone in the pasture of Wm. Walker at the time of the accident. When found the boy himself stated that he had been kicked by a cow. He was taken at once to the hospital by Wm. Walker, on whose land the accident occurred, and there it was learned that a bullet had entered the abdomen, tearing its way from left to right and inflicting a fatal wound. The boy lived only a few hours after the accident.

Authorities held no suspicion of foul play. The only ones able to throw any light on the probable circumstances of the accident were the Walker children who told their father and the authorities that the boy was playing with the rifle and had been shooting at objects in the pasture. In the absence of any positive evidence, the theory that the boy was kicked by one of the cows in the pasture was accepted as the most reasonable one.

Funeral services were held from the Methodist church at Lake Villa Wednesday afternoon, with Rev. McKelvey officiating. A group of the classmates of the deceased sang and another group acted a pall bearers.

FIRE CHIEFS TO AWARD PRIZES AT ARMISTICE DANCE

Fire Chiefs from Kenosha, North Chicago, Waukegan, Lake Forest, Grayslake, Fox Lake, and Antioch will be judges in the awarding of more than $300 in prizes at the big Armistice Day Mask Ball at the Antioch Palace Friday evening, November 11.

No expense is being spared by the firemen to make the big ball the record event of the season. Preparations are being made to take care of the throng of maskers that will make a veritable Aladdin's Palace of the big dance hall Friday evening.

Illinois Will Hold Eight Elections in 1928

Eight elections including the primaries will be held in the state of Illinois in 1928, according to the annual election calendar which has just been prepared by Secretary of State Emmerson. Interest centers on the statewide primary election to be held on April 10, and the general election November 6, 1928. Among the officers to be nominated next April are governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, auditor, attorney general, two congressmen-at-large, one representative in each of the twenty-five districts of the state, senators in the even-numbered districts and the three members of the general assembly in each senatorial district.

Primary day will also bring about the selection of two delegates and alternate delegates from each congressional district to the national nominating conventions; state senatorial and precinct committeemen, and in addition voters will express themselves with respect to candidates for president.

McCammon Property Still Not Located

That no further light had been shed on the question of the location of the missing land owned to Mrs. Edith McCammon by her deceased husband was learned this week. Mrs. McCammon, however, stated that McCammon was not, to her knowledge, known by the name of Will McIntyre.

According to the terms of the will $40,000 worth of land at Hannibal, Indiana, was left to Mrs. McCammon.

BLACKMAN TO OPERATE TEXACO OIL STATION

Mrs. Chase Webb, Mrs. James Stearns and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Simons were Chicago visitors Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wehrenberg of Libertyville, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stevens of Highland Park, were callers at the Andrew Harrison home on Sunday.

Motorist Has Narrow Escape From Death In Collision With Train

Melvin Baryte of Salem narrowly escaped serious injury and his car was totally demolished on Tuesday evening when he was struck by a train at the crossing near Salem.

Baryte stated that he had no feeling that the train was coming until it hit him. The crossing is protected by a bell signal but its failure to ring Tuesday evening was not considered unusual by the people in the neighborhood of the accident who stated that the performance of the bell has been erratic for a long time.

Baryte was thoroughly shaken up by the impact of the collision which fortunately threw him wide of the car, and although much cut about the head and shoulders and bruised about the body, was not seriously injured.

Supreme Court Sustains Dept. of Public Works In Grade Controversy

The Illinois department of public works and buildings is sustained in its policy with reference to changes in road routings to avoid grade crossings in a decision handed down by the state supreme court a few days ago. The finding was given in a case involving condemnation of land for carrying a road through private property on Route 44 between Milledgeville and Stockton, which attacked the constitutionality of the commission's action on the ground that the authority exercised was not in conformity with the purpose of the road law of 1917, as expressed in the title.

Cook and Lake County Women's Club to Meet

A Conference of all clubs in Cook and Lake Counties will be held at the Stevens Hotel, Chicago, Thursday, November tenth at ten o'clock in the morning. All club women are invited to share this day of rich opportunity by attending the conferences, luncheon and afternoon program. Mrs. Walter W. Seymour, State President of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, will preside. Speakers at the morning conferences will be Mrs. Charles S. Clark, Mrs. Maud Swalm Evans, Mrs. Maurice Leiber, and Mrs. George W. Plummer. Following the luncheon, two minute talks will be given on "The Scope of the Federation and Why Clubs Should Belong" by Mrs. Edward S. Bailey, president, Chicago and Cook County Federation of Women's Organizations; Mrs. Harry S. Valle, president, Federation of Cook County Women's Clubs and Mrs. S. W. Manch, President Lake County Federation of Women's clubs. Music by the Philicon Club and an address "The Dangers of Democracy" by Dr. William H. Boddy, will complete the program.

HIGH SCHOOL TAKES LOSS FROM GURNEE

Warren Township High
Pushes Thru Line For
19 to 0 Score.

Last Saturday Antioch suffered its first defeat of the season at the hands of the strong team of Warren Township High School. For the first time in the history of Lake County High School football the Gurnee team were able to take Antioch into camp.

The local boys were outweighed several pounds per man and, due to this, Warren was able to make large gains through the line with Bouma, their driving fullback, gaining most of the ground. Warren was unable to gain on end runs or forward passes but they made up for this on line plunges.

Early in the game Steininger, quarter back and star performer on the local team, suffered a cracked hip and had to be carried off the field.

Although the Antioch boys were outscored they were not outthought, and due to this fact there are five boys with injuries that will prevent them from playing this week against Leyden. It is expected that they will be back at their positions for the Libertyville game.

Second Team Makes Showing

The Antioch second team held Warren's second team to a scoreless tie in the preliminary game and also showed much strength on defense. Warren was on the offensive most of the time but because of the defensive work of the Antioch boys was unable to crash over for a touchdown.

On Wednesday of this week the Antioch second team was defeated at Libertyville by their second team, 6 to 2. The local boys outplayed Libertyville the first half and had a 2 to 0 score at the end of the half but in the second half they cracked, due to several fumbles, and Libertyville was able to score the winning touchdown.

Leyden Township H. S. Saturday
On Saturday of this week Leyden Township High School of Franklin Park comes to Antioch for the last home game of the season.

Leyden has been giving its opponents plenty of good opposition, and as Antioch will be forced to use several second team men, a close hard fought game is expected.

PREPARATION FOR FACTORY OPENING NEARLY COMPLETE

Officials of the new Corona Pen Co., arrived in Antioch Tuesday and are at work setting up the machinery for the new factory. It is expected that operation will begin in 10 days or two weeks.

Grade School P. T. A. To Present Program

The regular meeting of the Antioch Grade School Parent-Teachers Organization will be held at the school house next Monday evening. A program is to be presented. One of the features of the entertainment will be an arithmetic contest to be given by the students of the seventh and eighth grades. Following the program refreshments will be served.

Robert Mann spent the day in Chicago Wednesday.

AUTO WRECK KILLS WAUKEGAN MAN AT WADSWORTH ROAD

Alex Skene is Dead and Companion Is Injured
In Crash.

Alex D. Skene, 22, of Waukegan, died at Lake County General hospital Saturday morning as the result of injuries received in an auto accident last Wednesday morning, when the car in which he was riding crashed into a Northwestern freight train at Wadsworth crossing a mile east of Wadsworth. Early arrivals at the scene of the accident took the victims to the Waukegan hospital for medical attention, but no hope was held out for the recovery of Skene who suffered from a fractured skull. Owen who was the driver of the car was thought at first to have escaped serious injury but later developments proved that he was suffering from concussion of the brain and possibly from skull fracture.

The machine which Owen was driving hit the ninth box car of a 120-car freight train. The crossing at which the accident occurred is considered one of the most dangerous ones in the county. Railroad employees stated that the speed of the car had not been excessive and placed the probable rate at about 20 miles. Owen, who is still in a dazed condition, stated that the freight was perfectly hidden in the darkness and haze of the evening.

The funeral services for Skene were held in the Presbyterian church in Waukegan Monday afternoon.

Poultry Association Issues Last Call For Entries to Big Show

Entries for the Antioch-Lake Villa Poultry Exhibition, which is to be held at the Antioch High School, Nov. 10, 11, 12th, will close at 6 p. m. Wednesday, Nov. 9th. Stock must be in place by 9:00 p. m. Thursday, November 10th, as judging will begin Friday, Nov. 11th. Roy Waterman of Barrington, Ill., has been secured as judge.

Entries for the contest already exceed the total of last year's entries and many more are expected. Officials of the show expect this to be the largest exhibit of poultry ever made.

Much interest prevails over the pullet sale which will be the new feature this year. The sale will start at 1 p. m., Saturday, Nov. 12th, at the high school. Buyers are advised to come early and inspect the pullets in the pens. Seven breeds will be sold: Barred, White, and Buff Plymouth Rock; White Wyandotte; Single Comb and Rose Comb Rhode Island Reds; and White Leghorns.

There is a place for all breeds of poultry, at the show. Make your entries by writing to C. L. Kuttel, Antioch, Ill. A phone call is all that is necessary to enter. Your birds will be caged and fed by the association, so it will not be necessary to be present.

C. B. Shultis Buys Hillebrand Interest In Business Here

Clarence B. Shultis, son of C. E. Shultis of the firm of Hillebrand & Shultis, this week purchased the interest of Wm. Hillebrand. The store will be operated in the future under the firm name of C. E. Shultis & Son.

The present firm of Hillebrand & Shultis was established eight years ago, at which time C. E. Shultis purchased an interest from Wm. Hillebrand who had been in the merchandising business here for many years. Clarence Shultis has been in the employ of the firm since the reorganization.

Last January the store was moved to larger quarters on the west side of Main street in the Hunt building.

Mr. Hillebrand's withdrawal is due to ill health from which he has suffered for a long time. He has been unable to take an active part in the business since July on that account, and is at present recuperating in Florida.

ANTIOCH MERCHANTS STAGE BIG THREE DAY DOLLAR SALE

Local Stores Will Sacrifice
Profits November 10th,
11th and 12th.

The lowly dollar will come into its own here next week end when Antioch merchants, in conjunction with the Fourth Annual Poultry Show, will give three big days of real bargains, and they are inviting the people of the region to take advantage of the many record-breaking bargains offered for these three days, Nov. 10, 11 and 12.

Antioch is a good place to trade. The local merchants not only make this claim, but they back it up with high quality merchandise every day. The three days of dollar bargain sales will set a new mark in selling, according to those who are disregarding profits for the three days in order to attract buyers to the town to inspect the high quality merchandise to be found in Antioch's stores.

Every effort is being made by Antioch firms to make these three days the merchandising event of the season, and the large and varied stocks on display in local stores next week will represent the newest and best on the market in every line.

Merchants Are Liberal.

Not only have Antioch merchants sacrificed profits in the greatest bargain sales event ever staged in the community but they have contributed liberally to make the poultry show a success and have made gifts to that organization exceeding in value $400.00.

Band Concert Saturday.

On Friday the Antioch Township high school will be open for inspection and the people of Antioch community and elsewhere are invited to inspect the newly built addition to the high school.

The merchants are making arrangements to have a band concert Saturday afternoon, November 12.

Come to Antioch November 10, 11 and 12.

Cure for Plant Disease

Manganese deficiency, a disease afflicting plants that grow in certain types of soils, can be cured by hypodermic injections with a solution of this mineral, as well as by fertilizers containing the substance.

COUNTY PROPERTY VALUES INCREASED $11,414,265.00

Added Valuation Largely Due to the Many New Subdivisions.

An increase of $11,414,265 in valuation of county property was found by the county board of review which completed its 98 day task of equalizing and valuing county lands and property values last Friday.

Valuation on all county acreage for 1927 was $23,240,700 and on all county lots was $61,832,290. Personal property reached $19,670,745 which was a decrease of $138,665 under that of last year.

Increase in valuation was largely due to the large number of lots which have been added to the tax lists since the 1923 quadrennial assessments. 16,629 lots were added as compared to an increase in lot valuation of $10,477,320.

The board of review allowed a decrease of $23,250 on requests for revaluation of lands, and $24,970 on lots, but jumped personal property $70,145, making a total increase of $21,945 on cases brought to its attention.

Farm acreage in Lake county has shrunk 4,999 acres. This leaves a total of 37,950 acres of lands listed as farm property which amount includes a number of huge estates along the north shore.

The apparent large increase in valuation this year as compared to 1926 is explicable as last year's values were based on the figures of 1923 whereas this is the year for the quadrennial revaluation of land required by law.

This year's values are based on full valuation, as opposed to listings of previous years which have been based on assessed value which was half the full value. This system does not raise taxes as the rate is cut in half.

Financier and Wife Are Victims of Auto Crash at Libertyville

Mrs. John J. Mitchell, Sr., was killed instantly and her husband was fatally injured in an auto accident which occurred on Route 21 a mile north of Libertyville Saturday.

The accident occurred about 8:30 in the morning as the Mitchell's were hurrying to Chicago from Ceylon Court, their country home at Lake Geneva.

The tragedy followed on the heels of a previous accident in which two cars had collided in the road. The chauffeur of the Mitchell car, Harry Bradley, coming over the brow of the hill was prevented from seeing the crowd in the road ahead, both by the rise in the land and the heavy fog which prevailed Saturday morning.

He applied the brakes in an effort to avoid a collision and the car crashed through the fence at the side and overturned twice.

Mrs. Mitchell died instantly of a broken neck and Mr. Mitchell passed away two hours later in the office of Dr. John L. Taylor of Libertyville.

John J. Mitchell, Sr., was one of the most influential and prominent of the elder financiers and the Illinois Merchants Trust Company of which he was president, is one of the largest banking institutions west of New York. Both Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell were prominent in charity work and their passing was universally mourned by all who had come in contact with them.

Lake County School Enrollment Shows 99.8 Per Cent Increase

An increase in public school attendance amounting practically to 100 per cent in the 20 year period between 1906-07 and the present time is indicated by figures emanating from the state department of public instruction. Lake County's record of 99.8 per cent was exceeded by only four other counties in the state, among them Cook county.

FARMERS FILE OBJECTIONS TO THIRD LAKE DAM

Petitions filed by nine farmers, who own land on Third Lake and Bruce's lake, recently asked the court to prevent the construction of the proposed dam to raise the levels of Third Lake 21 inches. Petitioners stated that the dam would cause the land which they hold under a high state of cultivation to become soggy and not conducive to good crops.

Capital's Police Women Stand High in First Aid

Members of the Women's Bureau of the District of Columbia police department recently completed the Red Cross first aid course. This is perhaps the first women's group of the kind to be awarded the special first aid arm insignia by the American Red Cross in token of completion of the training.

The Red Cross in the past year qualified 24,812 persons in first aid and awarded certificates to members of police and fire departments, industrial groups and utilities employees all over the United States.

WAR WORK NOT AT END FOR RED CROSS

Demands for Service to Disabled
Veterans Last Year Cost
Nearly $3,000,000.

Expenditure of $2,930,223.66 for services to disabled veterans, and of $507,832.30 for service to men of the Regular Army and Navy, were outstanding details of the Red Cross appropriations for the past year's activities, and are cited by Chairman John Barton Payne as the continuing importance of this phase of the organization's responsibilities nine years after the end of the war.

Of the total expended for disabled veterans, the National Organization contributed $1,161,223.86, and the local Red Cross Chapters $1,769,000. The service to men of the regular forces was shared by the National Organization with an appropriation of $307,832.30, and by the local Chapters with $200,000.

During the year the Red Cross as a whole contributed materially to the success of the Government efforts to have every veteran re-instate or convert his war-time insurance before the final time limit expired. Chapters worked in cooperation with local veterans' bodies to assist former service men with their insurance papers, and the application routine, many Chapters keeping open headquarters up to the expiration of the final moment at midnight.

Under local Chapters of the Red Cross, assistance to ex-service men in filing claims for disability and adjusted compensation, securing hospital care for disabled veterans, preparation of social histories for use in treatment of men in government hospitals, assistance in securing proper guardians for veterans adjudged incompetent to administer their affairs, rendering reports on home conditions of service men applying for discharge because of dependency, and many other forms of aid are a part of the Red Cross duty to these men.

An interesting detail reveals the fact that prosecution of ex-service men's claims is becoming increasingly difficult as they grow more involved with each year that passes since the war. The number of death claims is growing constantly, in addition to the fact that there is a steady increase in the number of claims referred to various branches of the Red Cross concerned with assistance to veterans, for aid in bringing them to a close.

During the past year, National Headquarters estimated that the Red Cross assisted veterans and service men with cases involving total awards of $555,681, for disability and death compensation, revival of insurance, adjusted compensation, pensions, medical and burial reimbursements, etc.

Red Cross representatives are on duty with the Army and Navy both in home and foreign garrisons, and contact is maintained in the hospitals and other centers where assistance to these men and women may be needed. Such Red Cross service, it is emphasized, covers only the fields where regular governmental provisions do not apply, and is designed to supplement these benefits of the Government.

It was emphasized that this particular activity of the Red Cross is one of the strongest appeals for the increased membership, which will be asked of the country during the annual enrollment from November 11 to 24.

The Eleventh Annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross, during which new membership is invited, will be held this year from November 11 to 24.

Youth, Alone, Keeps 8, With Father in Prison

Frankfort, Ky.—Written between the lines of a petition for executive clemency for Enoch Polly, serving a life sentence in state reformatory here, is the story of a five-year struggle by a youth, now twenty-three years old, to support the family of a father convicted of murder.

In 1922 Enoch Polly was found guilty of slaying Mandy Caudill. When Polly was sent to prison his oldest son, Richard, eighteen, was forced to quit school and go to work in the coal mines of Cornettsville to support his mother, ten brothers and sisters.

Richard, neighbors say, has kept the family well fed and clothed and the children in school. Two years ago the mother died, and since two of the older girls have married.

Still, Richard has quite a little family to take care of—eight children, the oldest thirteen, the youngest six.

Spring floods swept away most of his possessions, but he is "carrying on."

stock, crops, meats, government and state exhibits and boys' and girls' club products will be open for inspection throughout the Exposition and a brilliant horse show will occupy the arena every night except Sunday. Meetings of farm organizations and sales of pure-bred live stock will be held daily.

14 Disasters at One Time Call for Red Cross Work

The great size of a disaster does not necessarily mean that it has the stage to itself.

The American Red Cross relief forces were impressed with this fact during the Mississippi Valley flood in recent months. While the relief forces were struggling with this greatest of all disasters in United States history, from April to June they were obliged to furnish relief in 21 other emergencies, including 11 tornadoes. In one tornado approximately 17,000 persons were assisted.

At one period the Red Cross was conducting relief operations in 14 disasters simultaneously, scattered over a wide territory.

Citing the continuity of demands on the organization's resources, Chairman John Barton Payne of the Red Cross has announced the need of 5,000,000 adult members as a result of the Roll Call, Nov. 11 to 24.

One of 111 Operations in Year of Calamity.

Tornadoes headed the list of disasters which struck the United States in the past year, the report of Red Cross relief operations for the year ending June 30, showing 29 great storms. Floods were second on the list, 24 being recorded for the same period.

This record does not include the St. Louis tornado which occurred in the current fiscal year, as did a number of other storms and disasters since, in which the Red Cross provided relief.

Included in the list of 111 disasters covered by the record of the past year's relief operations of the Red Cross, are earthquakes, explosions, mine disasters, a cloudburst, a hailstorm, fires, floods, hurricanes, a railroad wreck, a scarlet fever epidemic, typhoid epidemic, tornadoes, and a typhoon. The latter occurred in the Philippines, but is included in the operations at home. In all, the Red Cross extended its services in 77 major disasters in the United States and in 20 abroad, including a hurricane over Havana, Cuba, and the Isle of Pines, one in the Bahamas, and others through various West Indian regions, fire in Porto Rico, another in Haiti, earthquakes in Armenia, Japan and Albania, floods in Jugia Slavia and Mexico.

The organization conducted refugee relief operations in Syria, Bulgaria and China, the latter largely due to factional wars fought over various parts of China the past year.

The two outstanding disasters at home were the Florida hurricane and the Mississippi Valley flood. Rehabilitation operations of the latter disaster are still in progress under the Red Cross. A national appeal for funds was made in both disasters, resulting in contributions for relief amounting to more than $20,000,000.

The Mississippi flood is the outstanding disaster in the whole history of the Red Cross disaster relief service. In this one catastrophe the organization raised through subscriptions by the people of the country and foreign nations approximately $17,000,000 for relief use. Aided by this fund it fed, clothed, sheltered or otherwise assisted more than 600,000 human beings, fed and cared for approximately 200,000 head of livestock and established 149 refugee camps. The flood inundated approximately 20,000 square miles and affected 174 counties in eight states. Some 330,000 homeless persons were sheltered in Red Cross camps. When the emergency was at its height the Red Cross was serving more than a million meals a day.

So vast was the work imposed on the Red Cross and allied agencies conducting rehabilitation that this phase of the flood relief task is expected to extend well into the coming year. Up to September 15, 104,441 families in the flood zone had been given rehabilitation assistance by the Red Cross, and 1,700,000 acres of flooded crop land in seven States had been replanted with Red Cross aid. There had been expended or committed for expenditure in connection with this relief and rehabilitation work a total of $15,660,000.

The appeal for a nation-wide membership increased to 5,000,000 adult members, it was pointed out, is based on the realization that demands on Red Cross service such as occasioned by disaster relief are increasing each year. For that reason special importance is lent to the Eleventh Annual Roll Call of the organization, to be held from Armistice Day, November 11, to Thanksgiving, November 24, during which this membership will be built up.

Children of Lepers

An effort is made to separate unfettered children from parents who are in leper colonies. In the Cullon leper colony in the Philippines 285 children under fifteen years of age were removed in 1925. They were put in nurseries, institutions or with friends. Periodical health examinations are given them, school training is provided, and they correspond with their parents.

LAKE COUNTY MILK WILL BE ACCEPTED ON CHICAGO MARKET

Record Testing Program
Gives Clean Bill to Local Herds

Lake county milk will not be barred from the Chicago market as tuberculin reactors have been performed on the five thousand head in herds wherein reactors were detected in the last examination, some six months ago, according to officials of the state department of agriculture. Six state tuberculosis inspectors, detailed by D. W. Robinson, superintendent of the division of animal industry, for special service in lake county, today report the task completed.

The number of milk cows in Lake county, due for tests, and rapidly becoming due three weeks ago, was far too great for one county veterinarian to test in time. To bring the tests down to date, state assistance was essential if the owners of the untested cattle were to continue to sell their product to their natural market—Chicago—milk distributors. Chicago regulations demand that milk must come from herds whose owners have complied with state and federal tuberculosis regulations. This, the state officials explain, makes it mandatory that the animals in the herds that have contained reactors as determined by initial tests, be retested within six months. This made the immediate retesting of five thousand head of cattle necessary. If Lake county milk were to continue to enter Chicago markets.

During the past three weeks, due to assistance from the six state men, approximately 5,000 tests were made, which, in accordance with the average testing record, represents about one-twelfth of a usual month's testing over the entire state.

American Legion Notes (By the American Legion.)

For the third successive week the good little old Eighth District, as it is known in American Legion circles, led the entire state of Illinois in 1925 paid up members.

This district comprising all of Lake county, although having the smallest potential membership of any district and raising up that percentage mark to such a high figure that it will remain as a record for many years to come.

The results this year are the results of the many years of campaigning of the Past District Commanders who by their hard and untiring work, long hours and devotion to the cause laid the ground work for the accomplishments this year.

Standing in high places in this work are "Monte" Rasmussen of Lake Forest, Jim Gallagher and Bob Gullie of North Chicago and O. S. Fuqua and F. B. Holve of Waukegan.

With every Past Commander now in receipt of specified instructions relative to the Registration of graves of deceased veterans of American Wars it is believed that the most comprehensive organization for compiling of such records in any state of the Union has been perfected.

The Eighth District Commander of the American Legion, Edw. J. McGough has stated that this organization will provide all patriotic societies with a ready reference for the locating of burial places of deceased veterans. This will also facilitate their work in the decorating of these graves on Memorial day.

At the last meeting of the Lake County Council of the American Legion held at Highland Park, Ill., Earl Clark of Waukegan, Ill., was unanimously elected organizer of the Lake County American Legion Band.

Some merriment was caused when the District Commander Edw. J. McGough inquired from "Monte" Rasmussen, the prime mover of the band organization, if he would object to a band of over 100 pieces when he replied that if Clark with all of his following at Great Lakes and in Lake County couldn't promote a band of more than 100 pieces, that he should be quartered and strung from a yard arm of the newly lighted radio towers at Great Lakes.

Bandmen from all over the county are falling in line in back of this project and Clark expects to have his quota within the next 30 days.

All bandmen of Lake County are urged to come out and join this highly patriotic project.

Commanders of all Legion Posts in the county are sending in names of bandmen and with several complete musical libraries, together with meeting places offered, it is confidently expected that the Lake County American Legion Band will soon be a reality and that it will prove one of the main attractions at the 1928 Waukegan Legion Convention.

POULTRY

MILK FEEDING IS CONSIDERED GOOD

Most milk feeding of poultry is considered a good thing and a money-maker if people have a little time in the fall, and are close enough to a town where the hotels or meat markets will buy the fowls at a special price. These people plan to have the springs and younger cockerets grow up with good-sized bones, and usually feed them up a few weeks before Thanksgiving. Young birds weighing from 3½ to 4½ pounds are the best, as they make tender meat and take on flesh quickly.

Pen fattening is the best way of feeding them on the farm. The birds are placed in a coop where they will not exercise much, and the change in food is made gradually for two or three days. The following ration is recommended as giving good results:

- 2 pounds ground corn
- 1 pound ground whole oats
- 1 pound flour middlings
- 8 pounds liquid buttermilk

This is mixed just before each meal, using skin milk if there is no buttermilk available. When fed it looks like pancake batter. Feed in troughs twice each day, and leave only enough before them so that they will clean it up in ten minutes for the first few days. If they are not hungry, do not force the feeding. It takes about eight pounds of feed for one pound of gain per chicken in fourteen days. Sometimes it pays to stop in ten to twelve days, if they are not gaining rapidly enough.

Grain Ration Valuable for Fattening Turkeys

Some turkey raisers feed equal parts of wheat and oats during the first part of the fattening season, gradually changing to corn as the weather becomes cooler. The common practice, however, is to begin feeding heavily on corn about November, and since turkeys are not accustomed to such heavy feeding, scours often result, especially if new corn is used. This practice of a sudden start with heavy feeding is to be discouraged. Old corn is a much better feed than new corn, but the old corn must be free from mustiness.

The best results in fattening are obtained when a grain ration of oats, wheat and corn is provided. A number of growers have tried fattening turkeys by confining them to small enclosures during the process, but with very little success. Turkeys confined to a pen usually will eat heartily for two or three days, but afterwards lose their appetites, and consequently, begin to lose flesh rapidly. On allowing them free range again, they pick up rapidly and are soon eating as heartily as ever, which seems to indicate that a certain amount of range is necessary to keep them in a good, healthy condition so that they are always eager to be fed.

Find Hostess to Pests Makes Poor Egg Layer

A hen cannot feed worms and lay eggs. Poultry infested with worms are thin, droopy and emaciated and walk with an abnormal and stilted gait. On examination four kinds of worms may be found. They are: Large and small round worms, long tapeworms and nodular tapeworms. G. S. Vickers, poultry specialist at the Ohio State university, says:

All of them live in the intestinal tract of the hen. Treatment suggested for round worms is nicotine sulphate. If the hens are heavily infested it is recommended that each bird receive a nicotine sulphate capsule. In other cases 2 per cent of tobacco dust in the dry mash for a month is satisfactory. This should be repeated every other month.

Kumala is the most satisfactory treatment for tapeworms yet discovered. The University of Wisconsin recommends half-grain capsules for individual treatment. Birds weighing a half to one pound should be given one capsule, those weighing one to two pounds two capsules, three capsules to those over two pounds.

High Protein Feed

Meat meal or meat scraps are high protein feeds and are found in most chick mashers or laying mashers. They are used in connection with dried buttermilk in many feeds to furnish the animal protein which is lacking in grains. Experiments have shown that chicks or laying hens do better when supplied with animal protein to balance up the protein and other ingredients found in grains. Be sure that these products are all clean, fresh and sweet.

Keep Roosters in Jar

Male birds running with the poultry flock will keep the eggs fertile, but the fertile eggs will not keep. The hens will lay just as many eggs if there are no male birds running around. Excepting in cases where high priced male birds have been purchased to use this past season in the flock, it will be cheaper to dispose of all the male birds than to feed them until the next breeding season. One of the best ways to handle them is to castrate them.

Reserve Officers Act To Increase Effect Of Nat'l Defense Act

Increased effectiveness of the National Defense Act passed by Congress in 1920, is expected to follow action taken by Reserve officers of Illinois at the recent annual convention of their association held in Chicago. At this meeting a plan was set in motion to secure a personal replacement or "understudy," for every Reserve officer in the state. When it is understood that in the event the United States again becomes involved in war, 240,000 officers will be required the first year to train soldiers, the need for additional officers becomes apparent at once.

The Illinois Replacement Plan provides that every Reserve officer in the state is to sponsor a young man who has had training either in the Reserve Officers Training Corps of some college or school, or in the Citizens Military Training Camps. Officers are asked to make the acquaintance of these young men and assist them in every manner to complete the military education which is supplied without charge by the Government. It is expected that the personal interest shown by officers in the education of these young men, will go far towards inculcating in them a genuine desire to improve their knowledge of citizenship obligations.

Secretary of War Davis commenting upon the activities of Illinois Reserve officers, stated: "The R O T C and the C M T C are the elements of our National Defense system to which we look for eventual succession to leadership of the Organized Reserves. Prohibition of those elements operates to guarantee permanency to many of our National Defense organizations. Upon the young men of the camps and training units will depend the extent of future benefit to the nation from our present efforts. I shall watch with interest the success of the replacement idea. Such a method seems to have great possibilities."

Groups of officers in various cities of the state are taking steps to put the Replacement Plan into operation. At Galesburg, the local chapter of the Reserve Officers association has invited every C. M. T. C. student of Knox county to meet with members of the association, for a discussion of National Defense matters. Each officer is expected to "adopt" a student and tutor him in military affairs. At Champaign, the local chapter has undertaken to look after the interests of the entire corps of cadets, numbering some 3,000 students. Cook county chapter is co-operating with the R. O. T. C. unit at the University of Chicago. At Evanston, Reserve officers have thrown open their meetings to students of Northwestern University Training Corps.

It is believed that the impetus which this plan will give to more intensive study of citizenship responsibilities, will insure similar action being taken by other state organizations. Widespread and practical application of the Illinois Replacement plan, will go far towards making our National Defense Act all that the term implies.

City of Fourth Century Is Found in Moldavia

Odessa, Russia.—Ruins of an ancient Greek city of the Fourth century, B. C., have been discovered near the village of Scuril in soviet Moldavia. The area thus far explored is said to comprise about 30 acres and contains ruins of houses, black and red painted pottery, Greek vases and other objects.

Judaic Laws

Talmud is the name given to the compilation of the laws and regulations pertaining to rabbinical Judaism, with a discussion and history of those laws. It is divided into two parts, the laws themselves, known as the Mishna, and a discussion and elaboration of the laws, known as the Gemara.

FARM LAND VALUES STILL DECREASING

Average Is 50 Per Cent Lower Than in 1920.

Washington.—Farm real estate values continued to tumble during the crop year just ended, marking a continual depreciation during the last seven years, the Department of Agriculture said recently, adding that there are plenty of farms for sale with buyers few and cautious.

Present values are about at the level of 1917 values, being placed at 119 per cent of the prewar level, while 1920 values were 100 per cent above the prewar figure. The decline in the last year was not to be wholly unexpected, according to the department, on account of the marked decrease during the year in the price of certain of our major farm products, the sharp drop in farmers' incomes, and a generally inactive farm real estate market.

The South Atlantic states showed the largest decline, being 137 compared with 148 in 1920, and 148 in 1920. In other state divisions values were:

East North Central, 103 against 110 in 1920 and 159 in 1920; West North Central, 115 against 121 and 181; East South Central, 133 against 139 and 150; West South Central, 139 against 144 and 177; Middle Atlantic, 111 against 113 and 139; Mountain, 101 against 103 and 151; New England, 127 against 128 and 140, and Pacific, 143 against 141 and 150.

Values for the United States as a whole have gone down 50 points, from 166 in 1920 to 119 in 1927.

Beetle Ruins Beams in Castle of William I.

Maldstone, Eng.—The death watch beetle has ruined the wonderful oak beams, hewn in the days of William the Conqueror, in Leeds castle, now being restored.

History is being dissected every day with pick and shovel in order that the interior of the castle near here may be rebuilt in its medieval form for its new owner, Arthur Wilson-Filmer. The cost of the work is estimated at $500,000.

The castle is built on three islands and connected by stone bridges, from one of which Edward II, hanged a former governor, Thomas de Colepeper.

Mr. Wilson-Filmer does not want the work hampered by crowds of sightseers. When the restoration is completed he and his wife, who is a daughter of Lord Queensborough, will live there.

Among the discoveries is a hidden torture chamber in the walls, with an oubliette in its stone floor, through which the body of the victim could be shot into the moat after the rack and thumbscrew had finished with him. The castle and estate, which were bought some months ago from Fairfax Wykeham-Martin, whose family had owned it for centuries, are believed to have changed hands at $850,000.

Hallowe'en Is Made Occasion for High Revelry in Antioch

St. Ignatius' Church Sees Much Festivity For All Hallowed Eve

At St. Ignatius' church the Hallowe'en festivities were started last Friday evening with a card party which was well attended. Prizes for the occasion went to Chase Webb and Charles Wilton representing the masculine contingent, and to Mrs. Eva Kaye and Mrs. L. Rinear among the ladies. Five hundred was the game of the evening.

The parish house was decorated to provide a homelike place for the witches and goblins abroad at the time, and the School School parties were begun Saturday afternoon at four o'clock when Mrs. Fred Hawkins and the Misses Bernice Folbrich and Lila Hawkins entertained the primary children in their Sunday School classes with an hour of frolic followed by refreshments.

Saturday evening from seven to ten o'clock Mrs. W. H. Osmond entertained her class of fifteen students aged from eight to twelve.

The Hallowe'en festivities at St. Ignatius' were brought to a close by a party at the Parish Hall Monday evening at which the younger set, consisting of the students of the Junior and Senior church school classes, were the guests. Games and dancing provided amusement.

Hallowe'en Is Festive Occasion Throughout Antioch Grade School

The little ones enjoyed their first school Hallowe'en party at the grade school Friday afternoon. The primary room, with their teacher, Mrs. Charles Lux, partook of gingerbread men, candied apples and other Hallowe'en goodies, served from a table made festive with Hallowe'en decorations.

All of the lower grades were decorated for the occasion and parties were the order of the day last Friday, while witches, ghosts and goblins prevailed in song and story.

THE WILTONS GIVE HALLOWE'EN FUNCTION

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wilton were host and hostess to a party of 16 at their home Monday evening for a Hallowe'en celebration. The party was in the form of a masquerade and prizes were awarded for the best representation by a man and the best by a lady. Chas. Lux in the character of an old maid won the men's prize and Miss Mabel Brogan as the spirit of Hallowe'en won the lady's prize.

The early part of the evening was spent playing Five Hundred. In that event Otto Klass and Miss Linda Buschman proved winners.

After cards the party were taken to the basement, which was decorated with Jack-o-lanterns, corn, leaves and autumn flowers. Supper was served there and the rest of the evening spent in dancing and playing pool there.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Buschman of Twin Lakes were out of town guests at the party.

Invisible Searchlight

Penetrates Smoke

Washington. — An invisible searchlight, which is claimed to be capable of penetrating fog and rendering naval and military smoke screens useless in warfare, has been invented by a Scotchman named Haid, the Commerce department was advised by a consul, Finley A. Lindbergh.

"Noctovision" is the name given the device, which is said to have a penetrating power sixteen times greater than a beam of ordinary light through fog or smoke.

CHINESE WAR FORCES
GIGANTIC MIGRATIONMothers Kill or Desert
Babies in Tragic Trek.

Mukden, Manchuria.—The greatest migration in the world today, equal to the great movement of peoples from Europe to the United States when that movement was at its height, except for one or two record years, is now taking place into the vast, unsettled plains of Manchuria. This year practically a million new settlers will shift from overcrowded and war-ravaged Shantung and Chihli in the "last west" of north Manchuria.

This migration, said to relate, is being financed largely through the sale of young girls into slavery.

Through the ancient gateway in the great wall at Shanhai-kwan and through the modern port of Dairen are pouring a great multitude, estimated now at 10,000 a month, amongst whom are few young girls and practically no young men. The girls have been sold and the youths have been grabbed by the press gangs for one or another of the armies in the field.

Very Old and Very Young Trek.

Middle-aged fathers and mothers, taking with them old parents and young children, form the vast bulk of the northward trek, a flight from certain poverty and almost as certain war into a land where a homestead is to be had for the working of it and a territory that has known no war since the Japanese and the Muscovites grappled a quarter of a century ago.

The governments of the Manchurian provinces are giving a most commendable assistance to the migration. The various railroad lines are assisting in a far-sighted way, charging only a nominal amount for transportation to the able immigrant and providing free passage for men and women over fifty years old and to all children under ten years. The merchant guilds of the various large towns the migrants pass through have provided free soup kitchens, while the various clubs and associations formed amongst the Shantung and Chihli people who have already established themselves help their fellow provincials in numerous ways.

The newcomers, as a rule, head for the territory lying along the undefined border of Inner Mongolia, where a strange situation is being brought about by them. In many cases they acquire crop-sharing leases on land owned by the various princes of Mongolia, but while living on Mongolian-owned soil they are under Chinese jurisdiction, and where they settle become Chinese territory. In some cases barren stretches of Mongolian territory are thus left behind the advancing migration, leaving isolated bits of Mongolia in China, while in other cases a Chinese colony will be formed well within Mongolia, thus establishing bits of isolated Chinese territory within the borders of another state.

Tragedies of Trip.

Quite a number of migrants turn eastward and by the way of Kihai travel towards the Korean border and settle in the many fertile valleys of that mountainous country.

This migration of the old and young is, naturally, accompanied by many tragedies. Once the railroad and the free travel is left behind and the old commence to perish from the hardships of the trip, the trails of the newcomers being marked by thousands of graves of parents who have given up. Also, with funds pitifully limited and food scanty, many of the migrants find the burden of caring for their children, especially for the babies in arms, too much. Babies are deserted and left behind in the larger towns traversed by the hundreds. Some mothers, rather than face the risk of their babies not being found and cared for, drop their children from the railroad bridges as the trains cross over rivers. One favorite way of disposing of a baby so that it cannot be overlooked, is to wrap the little one in many folds of newspapers or rags and drop it on the station platform as the train pulls out.

FOX RIVER VALLEY
CLEANUP IS THEME
OF ANNUAL BANQUETRiver Communities Are Invited to Participate
In Event.

The forming of the Fox River Conservancy district and progress in the development of a clean Fox River valley will be celebrated at a banquet to be held by the Fox Valley Federation on Tuesday, November 15th, at 6:30 o'clock at the Masonic Temple in Aurora.

The Federation, which is made up of the civic and municipal organizations of the valley was the prime mover in the organization of the conservancy district. It is the plan of W. H. Blencoe of Geneva, the president of the federation, to make the banquet the first of a series of annual dinners.

"The Fox Valley federation, during the little more than three years of its history, has accomplished much," Blencoe said. "It was directly an accomplishment of the federation that the Fox River conservancy district came into being. The bill enabling the organization of such districts was written by the federation and its officers, and after much effort on the part of the federation and local legislators, became a law. Just what has been accomplished by the conservancy district is hard for the public to conceive. This will be told at the banquet November 15."

Letters announcing the banquet have been sent from the office of the federation secretary, Robert Irwin, secretary of the Aurora Chamber of Commerce. The program, of which Mrs. Florence Ward, of Batavia, is in charge, will be announced at a later date. On the program, Mrs. Ward states, Rodney Brandon, Sen. Harold Kessinger, Robert Klingery, of the Chicago Regional Planning association, and others noted for their interest in the development of the Fox River valley, will appear.

Aurora civic clubs and organizations may make reservations for the banquet through Robert Irwin, at the Chamber of Commerce office, or through the secretaries of their respective clubs. Due to the expected demand for tickets over the entire valley, it is asked that reservations be made as soon as possible, that plans may be made for taking care of those who come from outside. Tickets will cost $1.00.

SALEM

An enjoyable Halloween party was given by Leone Murray on Friday at her home for a number of her schoolmates from St. James school, Kenosha. After the games refreshments were served.

Miss Genevieve Lichter of Somers and Miss Jean When of Kenosha called at the Murray home Monday evening.

Dead Reckoning on Sea

Dead reckoning, as used by navigators, means the finding of a vessel's location at sea without astronomical observation of any kind, depending entirely upon maps of the course and the compass and log. It means the same when applied to aviation. Lindbergh flew to Paris entirely by dead reckoning; that is, he made no astronomical observations in order to keep his course.—Pathfinder Magazine.

From Tadpole to Frog

The bureau of fisheries says that the length of time that it takes a tadpole to become a full-grown frog depends entirely on the type of frog. For example, for a bullfrog about two years and for a tree frog anywhere from 50 to 60 days.

Salt as Collateral

For many centuries the salt trade of China has been a government monopoly. Indeed, the income derived in this way has more than once figured as a prime factor in guaranteeing loans made by foreign nations.

ANTIOCH BOWLERS
BEAT BURLINGTON
IN CLOSE GAME

Coleman's Five from Burlington took on the Antioch Bowling team at the Palace last Thursday evening and the local aggregation were able to defeat them with a close score.

Burlington managed to chalk up 2729 pins as compared to Antioch's 2763. At no time during the three games was the Antioch team in danger except during the last game when the locals broke and almost threw away the substantial lead they had gotten during the earlier games. Coleman, Matthews, Wagner, Glase, and Krueger made up the Burlington team and the Antioch team consisted of E. Fields, V. Dupre, E. Steiskal, G. Krachmer and E. Vos.

High individual scores for Burlington were made by Wagner and Krueger, with 226 and 225 pins respectively. E. Vos with 237 and V. Dupre with 214 were high men on the Antioch team.

The RECLUSE of FIFTH AVENUE

by WYNDHAM MARTYN

COPYRIGHT IN THE UNITED STATES W.N.U. SERVICE

THE STORY

CHAPTER I.—From the comfortable ancestral situation to which he had been born, Peter Milman, American gentleman of the old school, and last of his family, is practically reduced to a pauper through the misfortune of a friend, Hassen Brewer, whom he had unwisely trusted.

CHAPTER II.—Learning of Brewer's misfortune, which means the destruction of his last hope, Milman engages a French tutor, Achille Luty, who speaks no English, and is to replace Hassen, servant of long standing. By Luty, Milman sends letters to Prof. Fleming Bradley, Floyd Malet and Neeland Barnes, men whom the world has classed as failures, once of high position. In response, the three call on him at his home.

CHAPTER III.—After an excellent dinner Milman takes his guests into his Japanese garden, where, after each has related the circumstances which wrecked their careers, he convinces them their misfortunes are directly traceable to the machinations of an unscrupulous enemy, a man who has risen to high financial position and political power by underhand methods, chiefly blackmail, Paul Haxon. Haxon also ruined Brewer, and incidentally Milman.

CHAPTER IV.—Milman explains to his guests how, chiefly through his belief in Floyd Malet as a great sculptor and the victim of malevolent circumstances, he had subscribed to a press-clipping bureau and kept a detective on Haxon's track, learning much to Haxon's discredit, though nothing which he could be reached legally. He himself impoverished through Haxon's financial crookedness, Milman proposes an association of the four men—an association outside the law—which shall pull down Haxon and force him to disgorge his ill-gotten financial gains.

CHAPTER V.—Following Milman's disclosure, his three guests, after a consultation, practically decide to join him in the fight against Paul Haxon. Milman explains his ideas, admitting he has no real plan to bring about Haxon's downfall, except discredit details about his personal and business life which he has gleaned from Herman Ludden, Haxon's son on occasions when wine has loosened Ludden's tongue.

CHAPTER VI.—Haxon's political ambition in the national senate from his state. McKimber is the admitted party nominee, and must be eliminated. At his parental residence, Great Hook, Haxon plans elaborate entertainments in his political interests. Returning to his humble abode, he tells of his daughter, Anita, who had been living with relatives in England. Having no fit home for the girl, Haxon takes her to Milman's, where she is well-received as a guest. Overhearing the plans of the "conspirators," Anita arranges to join them, assisting them in her confidence she can be of use.

CHAPTER VII.—Mrs. Haxon, aware of her shortcomings as a society hostess, falls in with her husband's idea of hiring a well-bred woman and giving her full charge of the household. She engages a "Miss Agatha Brown" (really Miss Anita Haxon) to take charge. The girl arranges for the employment of her father and Professor Bradley as footmen in the Haxon household and the "association" awaits developments.

CHAPTER VIII.—Haxon's daughters, personally unattractive, are at once jealous of Anita. Speed, Milman's former tutor, is engaged for the same position by Haxon. With their son, Itho, in Mr. and Mrs. McKimber are guests of the Haxons. Itho, at once falls in love with Anita and proposes marriage. The girl refuses him, aware that his father would oppose his son's marriage to a penniless, unknown girl. Neeland Barnes and Bradley arrange a hiding place from which to spy on Haxon in his "den."

"Oh, daddy," the girl cried, "what happened?"

"The 'dagglers' red-baited me. I said to shoot under a heavy wooden book case might set the house on fire. It wasn't till I saw him outside with Malet that I pulled Bradley out head foremost. Of course he blamed me for not keeping a better lookout. It all came because I was actually doing the work for which I am being paid. Let me know what Mr. Milman says."

Neeland Barnes walked toward the pantry where Bradley was cleaning some silver.

"Hello, old sewer rat," said "Bry" gently. He took a seat and lighted a cigarette. Then he complained about young McKimber's attentions to his daughter. Bradley did not take his side.

"I've watched them," said Bradley. "And I think they are the handsomest pair I've ever seen. You must admit that, physically, he is superb. You are wrong in thinking he is forcing unwelcome attentions on Nita. He is humble and adoring. I'm not much of a judge of these affairs, but I think she likes him." Bradley sighed. "I should like to be looked at as I've caught her looking at him."

"And I rather like old McKimber," Bradley said. "It is true he has drunk the wine of Babylon largely, but that is what every successful man quaffs. If he is autocratic and wants his way, you must remember he is the head of a tremendous business and accustomed to men taking orders from him. His wife is quite genial and unaffected. Barnes could not dismiss his grievance against the family lightly. 'I hope he won't try to be autocratic with me because I'm annoyed with his son and heir.' 'Bry put a silver case on a tray. 'This waiting business pulls after a line. There's Malet eating, drinking and smoking with the best, while we have to work for a living. Actually he had the nerve to call me down the other night in French because I upset something over him while I was trying to hear what Haxon was saying to McKimber.' 'Don't get quarrelsome here,' Bradley cautioned him. 'Wait till it is ling up everywhere. There's a Red-lashing one in Wayne county. The larger cities, such as Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse and Utica, are taking the thing up admirably. Politicians of your old-fashioned kind resent women in public life, and you don't con-finished. A great deal depends on you."

"All right," said Barnes, picking up his tray. "The parasite departs. I'll watch my step."

CHAPTER IX

Very ungraciously Mrs. Haxon permitted Agatha Brown to be absent for a night. Very gladly the Haxon girls learned of it. Itho would be there for a few hours. After cramming continental pensions and small hotels, their present lavish life rather went to their heads. It took the form of a superiority complex which irritated Itho enormously. But he had promised his father to aid him by preserving a heartiness of manner that he did not feel. He was wholly obsessed by the thought of Agatha, that strange and lovely girl who held him at arm's length, snubbed him, harassed him, and then brought him back with a glance of those modish eyes. She would tell him nothing about her past life, and that worried him very much. What men had loved her, he wondered, and had there been men about whom she cared? Mrs. McKimber understood the situation and sympathized. Her husband was unusually irritable. He could talk about nothing but the infamous manner in which his press agent neglected to have him featured. It seemed to McKimber that the papers were filled with Paul Haxon. Actually some club women had started a "Better Architecture League," with Haxon as president. They were to agitate for classes in architectural appreciation in the high schools.

McKimber wandered about the big rooms fidgeting. Haxon was not to be seen. At midnight, when Speed stood respectfully at his elbow, McKimber was as nearly nervous as he had ever been. But he was too old a campaigner to show it. He followed the butler into a big sexagonal room, entrance to which was gained by a flight of eight stairs. That the apartment was furnished with subdued splendor and was of magnificent proportions added to McKimber's irritation. Instinctively he was aware that Haxon was getting ready to use his lavish settings in publicity work.

This tower study would soon be famous through the magazines. It was easy to visualize Paul Haxon leaning back in his customary indolent way with a specially prepared background. McKimber's private room represented office furnishing in its most efficient style. He reflected bitterly that this apartment must have been planned for photographic reproduction. McKimber decided it was effeminate. It provoked in him a feeling of contempt which could not dispel the knowledge that Haxon's settings were superb. But they were presumptuous. Haxon was riding for a fall. He needed to be taught a lesson. It would have been wiser for McKimber to recollect that Haxon had not succeeded through any lack of strength.

"This extensive publicity campaign of yours," McKimber began, "doesn't deceive us any."

"Yes," Haxon queried. "We who represent an organized party in this state. We know you're out to get a primary nomination, and as you've got money and a good press agent, it doesn't seem easy to prevent you. These primaries play the devil with party obligations. They encourage the malcontents and the ambitious."

"Which am I?" Haxon asked, smiling. "You're ambitious, Haxon. You are overambitious. The Bird of Avon says that's the thing which brought the angels down."

"This is the first time I have been called an angel," said the other. McKimber frowned. He detected flattery.

"I prefer to think of you as ambitious than to suppose you are wanting to split our ticket and let Westfield in. If one strong man with his party's solid backing runs against Westfield, he'll beat him."

"That cheers me very much," Haxon replied. "It was not easy for the domineering McKimber to hold himself in. He was accustomed to respect in the field of politics."

"You won't be the man," he exclaimed. "And you will!"

"Unless any spiteful malcontent deliberately proves a traitor. Up-state, which I control politically, has no use for you. It doesn't know about you. I asked a man from Wayne county the other day if he'd ever heard of Paul Haxon." McKimber smiled. "He said he never went to moving pictures."

"Your mistake," Haxon said, "was that you did not ask his wife. The women know me, McKimber. My 'Better Architecture League' are spring-violent mood. He might yet be able to divert the Haxon ambition to some less lofty height.

"I take that back," he said. "I recognize that you deserve some reward for what you've done in the past, but I'm entitled to the nomination. It is my just reward I want." McKimber's voice became almost conciliatory. "Don't you see the justice of it? I want in my old age the opportunity of serving my country."

"And I," Paul Haxon sneered, "want in my early middle age the opportunity of serving myself. Why drag your country in? Do you think I'm a political idealist just because I had a better education?"

McKimber rose to his feet. He knew he had lost, and he wanted to go before he forgot the slender, sneering man was his host.

"They told me you were a dangerous man," he said slowly, "but I don't think they gauged your rottenness correctly."

"I take good care to keep that from them."

"But you're giving it away to me, a confessed rival."

Haxon laughed. The spectacle of this tall, portly man, whose career had been so successful, amused him.

"The trouble with you, McKimber," he said, "is that you don't understand you are a corpse. Politically, you are dead and buried. You are not a rival. Don't flatter yourself to that extent."

"I tell you," McKimber thundered, "all the world shall know what has passed between us."

"If you don't lower your voice, all the world will hear. You're not a broadcasting station. Sit down. I seat for you because there's a lot I have to say which you wouldn't care to miss."

Reluctantly, McKimber sank back in his chair. He was enraptured by a certain and unwelcome unpleasantness. The man facing him seemed so secure, so unconcerned, so sure of ultimate triumph.

Grammar's Origin Lost

The earliest grammar known to the modern world is the Sanskrit grammar of Panini, who flourished about 300 B. C. This gives the rules for classical Sanskrit. The author refers to 61 predecessors. One cannot say definitely where and how grammar originated. It has been evolved from the necessity of systematizing the use of words.

STATE CAPITAL NEWS IN BRIEF

The Illinois Chamber of Commerce in the closing sessions of its convention in Chicago re-elected John H. Camlin of Rockford as president of the organization. The chamber, through its waterways committee, devoted much attention to the Mississippi valley flood problem. Senator Charles S. Deneen, Col. A. E. Schulz, U. S. A. district engineer at Chicago and member of the Mississippi river commission; Congressman Frank H. Reid, chairman of the flood control committee of the lower house and Mayor Thompson of Chicago presented their thoughts on the subject, all agreeing that it should be recognized as a national problem.

Five thousand delegates attended one of the largest conventions the Capitol City has handled recently from October 17 to 20. The delegates were attending the state convention of the three lodges of Odd Fellowship, the Illinois Grand Lodge, the Rebekah State Assembly and the Grand Encampment. A huge parade the convention ball, and the Ancient Mystic Order Samaritans entertainment were prominent features of the convention.

Ira M. Tarbell, nationally known author of many books on the life of Abraham Lincoln, paid the Capitol City a visit recently in her search for new material on the Great Emancipator. Miss Tarbell was particularly interested in the research work that had been done in the past five years by the Lincoln Centennial Association and other organizations. Miss Tarbell admitted that she was planning another book on the immortal Lincoln, but she refused to say when her new venture would be ready for release.

The state division of highways has awarded the contract for the construction of 15.5 miles of roads between Crescent City and Cissna park to the Harrison Construction Company of Kansas City. The price was $277,490.82.

According to an opinion handed down by Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom, electrocutions under the statute of the last session of the General Assembly must take place in the old section of the state penitentiary at Joliet and in the Southern Illinois Penitentiary at Menard. The opinion was given at the request of Lloyd Ide, director of the state department of welfare. The question has arisen whether executions in the electric chair might take place in the new prison at Stateville. The act specifies the penitentiary at Joliet and also the one at Menard.

Bids for the construction of several miles of hard roads, together with bridge and grading sections, have been received by the state department of public works and buildings. The pavement sections are as follows:

Route 14, section 11, White county, 4.25 miles; route 14, section 12, White county, 4.50 miles; route 15, section 13E, Kendall county, .21 mile; route 128, section 72, DeKalb, Kane county, 2.7 miles; route 81, section 101, Henry county, 4.97 miles; route 116, section 113, Livingston county, 7.31 miles; route 116, section 114, Livingston county, 6.83 miles.

The grading sections are in St. Clair, Vermillion, Henry and Monroe counties. The bridge sections are in Alexander, Pulaski, Cook, Henry, Vermillion, DeKalb-Kane, Livingston and Monroe counties. The division of highways has awarded the contract for the pavement on route 126, section 116H, Montgomery county, to the Wait Construction Company, Winchester, for $21,983.50.

Calhoun county waited for 109 years for a visit from a governor, but not until a few days ago had a governor ever set foot in the county which has no steam railroad and which is bounded on the west by the Mississippi river and on the east by the Illinois river. Governor Small recently attended a celebration of the opening of state highway No. 38 between Hardin and Kampsville. Six thousand people attended the celebration. The new road, ten miles long, built along the Illinois river with a great deal of difficulty, gives the county its first connection with the state highway system. Governor Small has instructed the state highway department to draw up plans for a bridge across the Illinois river in an effort to break down the isolation of Calhoun county.

Flood conditions and needed relief in the Mississippi and Illinois river valleys will be considered at a meeting to be held in Washington during the month of November of the flood control committee of which Congressman Frank Reid, Aurora, is chairman. The federal government has already included the Illinois river, from its mouth of Beardstown, as a part of the Mississippi flood control project. Major Wild, one of the army engineers who are studying the problem, stated recently that it had been determined that the Mississippi river affects the Illinois as far north as Beardstown and therefore that this section of it had been included in the study of the problem of flood control.

The state supreme court recently upheld the act of the last legislature raising the salaries of county judges in the state when it handed down its decision in four consolidated cases. The act raised the judges' pay according to the population of counties. When refused increased pay, judges in Adams, Union, St. Clair and Iroquois counties sued to mandamus their county treasurers for the raise. The high court granted their consolidated petitions under which writs of mandamus were issued against the treasurers, compelling them to make out larger checks for the judges. The provision of the act raising probate judges' pay was not passed upon by the court.

A new attack on the state primary law, which threatens a revival of the old pre-convention methods of selecting candidates for public offices, was launched in the Cook county courts recently. The instrument filed was a petition for an injunction to restrain the county clerk and county treasurer from carrying out the law.

HAPPENINGS IN NEARBY TOWNS

One hundred and fifty-three new citizens were naturalized last Wednesday evening at Waukegan in ceremonies arranged by the American Legion Post at that place.

Police of Lake Forest last week discovered what was apparently a rendezvous of thieves on the estate of Louis F. Swift. The police discovered a block house built within a half block of the estate but hidden in the thick woods. No clues were obtained as to the occupants of the fortress. It was believed that it was built by a gang fearing an attack and Lake Forest officials stated that it was a perfect fortress for a hide out.

The parents of six year old Josephine Dostodo, of Waukegan, who was killed last week in an auto accident are suing Otto Grate, one

In an opinion given to State Auditor Oscar Nelson, Attorney General Carlstrom declares that there are three flaws in the biennial omnibus bill passed by the general assembly. They include three appropriation items which do not come under the title of the act, as provided by the constitution, and are consequently invalid. The items which cannot be paid are: Excess cost of educating crippled children in school district No. 113, Peoria county, for year 1925, $270; to R. H. Musick, compensation for medical attention due to injuries received while an employee of the state, $700; war compensation to Lester W. Simpson, father of a deceased World War veteran, $300.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"EVERLASTING PUNISHMENT" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, October 30.

The Golden Text was from II Peter 2:9, "The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For, behold, the day cometh, that shall burn as an oven; and all that do wickedly, shall be stubble: and the day that cometh shall burn them up, saith the Lord of hosts, that it shall leave them neither root nor branch. But unto you that fear my name shall the Sun of righteousness arise with healing in his wings; and ye shall go forth, and grow up as calves of the stall" (Malachi 4:1, 2).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Tight and wrong, truth and error, will be at strife in the minds of students, until victory rests on the side of invincible truth. . . . You uncover sin, not in order to injure, but in order to bless the corporeal man; and a right motive has its reward" (p. 453).

NEW COLORIMETER AID TO INDUSTRY

Device Measures Color With Extreme Precision.

Cambridge, Mass.—Human judgment in the measurement of color has been eliminated from industry by a new instrument developed at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, called a colorimeter, used for automatically measuring the color of any substance rapidly and with extreme precision.

In all previous instruments human judgment has entered into the matching of an unknown color with a standard color, accuracy of such color matching depending entirely upon the skill of the observer and the quality of light. It can only be made with such instruments by persons whose color vision has been carefully standardized.

The new colorimeter developed at Technology by Prof. Arthur C. Hardy and Frederick W. Cunningham of the department of physics, does not depend upon any human judgment, and the accurate records of colors come from the machine as fast as samples can be fed to it. The importance of such an instrument lies in its value to industry, in nearly every branch of which control of color of its products is necessary.

Accurate measurement of color is the first concern of manufacturers of fabrics, particularly in the delicate shades which often deceive the eye. Color control is also of basic importance in making of inks, dyes, paper, and many other commodities. In the manufacture of confections, one company alone makes chocolates in 75 different colors, each of which must be kept at a standard shade.

The new machine not only measures color accurately, but makes a record on paper by which it is possible to match that shade at any time.

A powerful optical system and electrical devices are employed in registering color by this machine. The specimen color placed in the holder is illuminated by a special tungsten filament lamp which gives an illumination 50 times more intense than full sunlight. Water filters are used to prevent the light from setting fire to the sample. In making the measurement, magnesium carbonate, the whitest substance known, is used as the standard of comparison. Light is alternately reflected from the specimen and the magnesium carbonate and acts upon a photo-electric cell in which it sets up an alternating current.

This current is fed to a vacuum tube amplifier which increases the power ten quadrillion (10,000,000,000,000,000) times and automatically keeps the amount of light from the specimen and the magnesium carbonate balanced. The color of the specimen is analyzed at each wave length of the spectrum and the record is reproduced automatically by a pencil moving over a revolving drum. The result is a description of the color, by means of which the identical shade may be reproduced as often as desired.

Colorimetry is a science that is still in its infancy, but a good start has been made toward establishing standards for colors. With this new machine much delay and tedious experimentation is eliminated. It will even go to the point of establishing just how many shades or variations of any given color are possible, down to the most delicate that are practically impossible of differentiation by the human eye.

Beheading Ax That Never Worked, Relic

London.—Visitors to the British home office in Whitehall still see a relic of the Cato street conspiracy in 1820 in a beheading ax which is kept in a glass case.

The ax has never beheaded anyone, but it was made to behead the conspirators. The five persons convicted were sentenced to be beheaded in the ordinary way, but the authorities decided to hang them first and not take any chances. The beheading was done in public immediately afterward on the scaffold. It was performed with a surgeon's amputating knife by a masked "resurrection man" who was paid 20 guineas for his services.

DEVICE RESTORES FLOW OF BLOOD

Will Renew Circulation, Is Doctor's Claim

Vienna.—According to a Vienna telegram a Viennese doctor has invented an apparatus which, while it has not yet succeeded in awakening the dead, has nevertheless induced circulation of the blood in the body of a person dead for some hours. The apparatus is electrically driven and is applied to the stomach.

The message affected by means of the machine causes the muscles and blood vessels of the stomach to vibrate sufficiently to re-establish circulation. Doctor Eisenmenger, the inventor, had hitherto only applied his invention to persons who were almost dead as the result of asphyxiation or drowning, and who were in need of artificial respiration.

Now, however, it has been tried on a person dead for two hours. A woman of 40, who fell from a third-floor window, died on her way to the hospital. Two hours after death the apparatus was set in motion. A liter of salt water was injected in the arm. After half an hour the blood began to circulate under the skin; the pulse beat and the cheeks showed that in the veins was flowing not the red blood of a living person but the blue blood of the dead. It is true there was no sign of awakening, but this is not the object of Doctor Eisenmenger's invention, which is designed simply to re-establish circulation of the blood.

In the case of a person who is apparently dead, if both artificial respiration and circulation of the blood by the new method are resorted to, the chances of success should be increased. A powerful drug might also be added to the saline solution injected. Further experiments are to be made with artificial respiration and an injection of adrenaline administered at the same time as the massage is applied, and there is great curiosity in Vienna as to the results.

London Built on Sand, News Scares Populace

London.—London has discovered that its house is built upon the sand. Not since the German air raids of ten years ago has there been such trepidation over the possibility of a catastrophe.

In the last few weeks a half dozen buildings in various parts of the city have crumbled and fallen to the ground, great holes have opened in the streets and a tremendous cavity was found beneath Piccadilly, which is in course of reconstruction.

London builders have made application for a revision of the standard form of agreement between builders and architects, and the national physical laboratory is studying the effects of vibration on buildings.

The top thirty feet of London's surface ground is composed of shifting strata in which endless subterranean burrowings have gone on and on. Underground London is full of streams and water has been drained from one place to another in such a way that the water-bearing strata is constantly shifting, and making hidden chasms.

Buried Treasure Hunt Plan of Morgan's Kin

San Francisco.—Louis Morgan, descendant of Sir Henry Morgan, notorious pirate of the Seventeenth century, recently was preparing to go to Central America in search of lost Sir Henry's followers carried after they had sacked the city of Panama in 1671, and were said by tradition to have buried on a bayon near Darien Bay in the present republic of Panama.

Morgan, son of Frank Pierce Morgan, the district attorney of Victoria, Texas, and Capt. A. Pearson, veteran skipper on both the Atlantic and the Pacific, have joined in the venture. The men have launched the 40-foot auxiliary launch Saxon for the voyage.

The treasure hunt will be guided by a map reputed to have been left by Sir Henry Morgan himself.

Next Sunday will be Communion Sunday and it is to be hoped that many who have been forgetful of their bounden duty and service will avail themselves of this opportunity.
Fr. Gwyn of St. Lawrence's church, Libertyville, will be the celebrant. Will you make an earnest effort to be present? Breakfast will be served as usual in the Parish House after the service and thus the members of the Church School will not have to go home. Phone Mrs. W. H. Osmond if you plan to stay for breakfast.

The Pastor will complete the series of sermons on the Commandments with the topic "The Master Key." Confirmation instructions on the life and faith of the Church will take up the sermon time of the next month. Those interested in Confirmation will please see the Pastor and be supplied with text books and material for an intelligent study of the faith. We know what we believe and are not ashamed to declare it without compromise. If you seek the Truth, by which no man was ever injured, we would be glad to aid you in the confidence of the One, Holy, Catholic, and Apostolic Church of Christ. We do not claim to be the perfect body because all Christians have a place in the Catholic Church of Christ, though most of them are not conscious of it. Come and see for yourself. Do you, or do you not, actually know why you have the religion you have.

After the Custard

"I have it" has been voted correct by a duly appointed committee of British word authorities. But we have had words in England at the conclusion of which the expression couldn't possibly have been correctly used.—New York Evening Post.

FUNERAL OF MRS. BRITTON HELD AT PIKEVILLE HOME

The funeral of Mrs. Joe Britton of Pikeville, was held at the Britton home there at 2:00 p. m. Monday afternoon, October 31st. Rev. S. E. Pollock officiating. Death was due to complications following an operation for appendicitis three weeks ago.

Mrs. Britton who was born at Kingston, Illinois, in 1884, was formerly Miss Ida Gray. She was married on October 9, 1902 to Joe Britton and moved to Pikeville where they have since made their home.

Mrs. Britton was widely known and held in high esteem in the community in which she lived, and where she took an active part in all lodge and community enterprises. She was a member of the Royal Neighbor and Mystic Worker lodges. Besides her husband she is survived by five children, Charles, Harold, Brosia, Wendell and Everett. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gray of Kingston; and two brothers, Albert and Frank.

Interment was made in Hosmer cemetery north of Pikeville.
